Characteristics

1. Small system
2. Collectively self-accrediting, based on peer-review
3. Mature institutions
4. Stable model for external quality assurance (20+ years)

Responding to change: IT

- Need to respond to change coming from external and internal drivers
- Opportunities aplenty, including:
 - Transparency
 - Efficiency
- But also challenges – particularly associated with making change in an existing, mature system of QA

New Zealand case studies – but global themes

1. Autonomy
 - Of institutions and systems
 - Of individuals (preferences, BYOD)
2. Dynamic information
 - Versus static review
 - Archival requirements
3. Cost-benefit
4. Change management
 - Impact of increased transparency
5. Training and capability
6. Security (of information)

How are we responding to this?

1. Different approaches:
 - CUAP
 - AQA
2. Stage by stage, with consultation
3. Respecting preferences and autonomy where possible
4. Development of protocols – clarifying purpose and expectations
5. Learning from others

Thank you
